RE: Jeffrey Evans v. Department of Corrections (DOC)
Allocation Review No. 06AL0051

Dear Mr. Evans,

The Director's review of DOC's allocation determination of your position has been completed. The review was based on the written documentation submitted by you and by DOC. DOC determined that your position was properly allocated to the Warehouse Operator 4 classification. You feel that your job duties more closely related to the Correctional Industries Specialist 1 classification and that your responsibility for offenders is similar to the Industries Specialist 1, Construction and Maintenance Supervisor and Cook-AC classifications. You ask that the "AC" designation be added to your job title and that the salary range for your position be set range 45 step E.

The allocation review process is not the proper forum to rewrite or create a new classification. If you wish to propose a new or revised classification, you should work with your union representative and your agency's human resource staff to develop a proposal. You can find information about submitting a proposal on the Department of Personnel webpage at www.DOP.wa.gov under the HR Professionals tab. Under the HR Professionals tab, go to Meetings and then to Director of Personnel.

The purpose of a position review is to determine which classification best describes the overall duties and responsibilities of a position. A position review is neither a measurement of the volume of work performed, nor an evaluation of the expertise with which that work is performed. A position review is a comparison of the duties and responsibilities of a particular position to the available classification specifications. This review results in a determination of the class that best describes the overall duties and responsibilities of the position. See Liddle-Stamper v. Washington State University, PAB Case No. 3722-A2 (1994).

Salary inequity is not an allocation criterion and should not be considered when determining the appropriate allocation of position. See Sorensen v Depts. Of Social and Health Services and Personnel, PAB Case No. A94-020 (1995).

Background

As a result of the Department of Personnel's implementation of the Group 2 and 3 Occupational Categories, effective January 1, 2006, your position was transitioned into the new Warehouse Operator 4 classification in the Warehouse Operations Occupational Category. (Exhibit B). By letter dated January 4, 2006, you requested a review of that decision. (Exhibit C).

At the request of the Department of Personnel, DOC conducted a review of your position. DOC compared the Classification Questionnaire (CQ) that was on file for your position at the time of the implementation of the new Warehouse Operations Occupational Category to your former Warehouse Worker 4 classification and the new Warehouse Operator 4 classification. By letter dated November 22, 2006, DOC determined that your position was properly allocated to the Warehouse Operator 4 classification. (Exhibit E).

By letter dated December 29, 2006, Karen Wilcox, the Director's Review Coordinator, informed the parties that the review of your position would be conducted based on the documents provided by the parties. (Exhibit F). Ms. Wilcox informed you that any additional documentation was to be submitted no later than January 25, 2007. Neither party submitted additional documentation.

Summary of Mr. Evans' Perspective

In addition to supervising six staff, you supervise over 11 offenders on three different work crews. Six of these offenders are issued Class 1 tools on a daily basis. Your position supervises an offender store that services approximately 2500 offenders with annual sales of over $1 million. You feel that your job duties are closer in description to the Industries Specialist 1 classification. You compare your position to Construction and Maintenance Supervisor and Cook-AC in regard to the similarity of your level of responsibility for offenders. You state that your position should be set at a higher pay range than Warehouse Operator 4's who work in other departments outside of the Department of Corrections.

Summary of DOC's Reasoning

DOC compared your duties and responsibilities to the former Warehouse Worker 4 classification and the new Warehouse Operator 4 classification. DOC determined that the majority of your assigned duties and responsibilities are characteristic of your former classification, and subsequently, are also characteristic of the Warehouse Operator 4 classification.

Director's Determination

As the Director's designee, I carefully reviewed all of the documentation in the file including your letter requesting an allocation review and the duties and responsibilities described in your CQ. In addition to the Correctional Industries Manufacturing Occupational Category, the Construction and Maintenance Supervisor classification and the Cook-AC classification, I reviewed the Warehouse Operations Occupational Category. The Warehouse Operator 4 level is the highest level of classification in this Occupational Category. I reviewed the current Department of Personnel classification plan and the list of abolished classes but I found no classification titled Industries Specialist 1.

Based on my review of the documents, the available classifications, and my analysis of your assigned duties and responsibilities, I conclude that your position is properly allocated to the Warehouse Operator 4 classification.

Rationale for Determination

The focus of positions allocated to the Correctional Industries Manufacturing Occupational Category is working with and teaching offenders a variety of trades and other skills used in the manufacturing process. You work with offenders in a warehouse setting, not a skilled trades setting. As a result, your position does not fit within the Correctional Industries Manufacturing Occupational Category.

The focus of positions allocated to the Construction and Maintenance Supervisor classification is supervising and working with a crew performing construction and maintenance work. Again, since you work with offenders in a warehouse setting, your position does not fit within the Construction and Maintenance Supervisor classification because you do not perform construction and maintenance work.

Similarly, positions allocated to the Cook-AC classification direct the preparation and service of food by offenders and do not work in a warehouse setting. Therefore, your position does not fit within the Cook-AC classification.

The Distinguishing Characteristics for the Warehouse Operator 4 classification state:

This is the supervisory or expert level of the series. Positions at this level supervise and direct the entire receiving, storage and shipping operation in a major distribution center or on a multi-shift operation serving multiple delivery points, the complete operation of a commissary, warehouse, or a major subdivision of a large volume fast turnover warehouse.

As indicated in the CQ for your position which you signed on March 18, 2004, you are responsible for the daily management of the Northeast Region Offender Store that services Airway Heights Corrections Center and Pine Lodge Pre-Release. You supervise staff and offenders in general warehouse activities such as picking, bagging, scanning and distributing orders. You evaluate workers' performance, assure the security and control of tools and conduct tool inventories, oversee inventory purchasing, oversee inventory control and maintenance, and monitor daily sales. In addition to supervising staff and managing the warehouse, you meet with managers and department heads to identify inventory requirements, budgetary guidelines and agency procedures and policies. You make recommendations for improvements and develop methods and procedures to improve warehouse operations. You are also responsible for records and files pertaining to warehouse operations and the cleanliness of the work unit. As described on your CQ, the duties and responsibilities of your position fit within the Distinguishing Characteristics of the Warehouse Operator 4 classification. In addition, the examples of warehouse supervisor work identified at the Warehouse Operator 4 level are consistent with your assigned duties and responsibilities. Therefore, your position is properly allocated to the Warehouse Operator 4 classification.

This determination is based on the duties described in the classification questionnaire you signed on March 18, 2004. If the duties and responsibilities of your position have changed, you may request a review of your current duties and responsibilities in accordance with DOC's reallocation procedure.

Appeal Rights

WAC 357-49-018 provides that either party may appeal the results of the Director's review to the Personnel Resources Board by filing written exceptions to the Directors' determination in accordance with Chapter 357-52 WAC.

WAC 357-52-015 states that an appeal must be received in writing at the office of the Board within thirty (30) calendar days after service of the Directors' determination. The address for the Personnel Resources Board is 2828 Capitol Blvd., P.O. Box 40911, Olympia, Washington, 98504-0911.

If no further action is taken, the Director's determination becomes final.

Sincerely,

Teresa Parsons
Director's Review Supervisor
